CALL FOR SPEAKERS

Sustainable Innovations

Conference Name

30 October 2024

Date

University of Münster, Germany

Venue

Join us for a hands-on, practical conference to explore the connections between human societies and the ecological systems they inhabit.

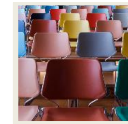

This event encourages researchers, innovators, and startups to converge and share insights under three focused tracks:

Planetary Health

Sustainability & Technology

Transformative Education

Our aim is to foster a collaborative environment where practical solutions and innovative ideas can be freely exchanged. The conference will provide a platform for debate, experiential workshops, and insightful presentations, helping to shape the next steps in sustainable practices across various disciplines.

Your Contribution to the Programme

If you have suggestions for potential startups, researchers, or innovators who might be relevant to our conference, or if you are personally involved in these areas and are interested in participating in a panel discussion or delivering a brief presentation, please reach out to us.
